Seaside Ripples

A.E. 'Andy' Barragan, Publisher

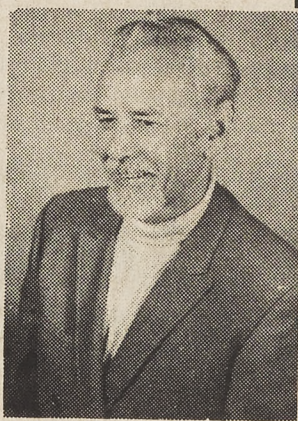

Election day for all statewide offices and for one United States senator is next Tuesday, November 3. Who you vote for is between you and your conscience, but your conscience is the one you will have to live with, if you fail to vote. In these days when there is so much stress and strain on the public body, there seems to be the greatest amount of apathy in regard to this election. Maybe the voters feel that no matter who gets elected there will be no major changes. Whether this is true or not, the only way we have today to change our government is by voting, so let's get out there on Tuesday and do our duty to our country.

As editor and publisher, we are expected to make recommendations to our reading public as to whom we endorse for election. No matter which man we endorse, at least a goodly portion of our readers are going to disagree and that is how it should be. Free elections give all the right to disagree and still remain friends.

For Assembly in the 34th district, which includes the entire peninsula, we endorse Oliver Murray. Murray is a resident of Seaside and has served as a public official in many capacities for many years right here in Seaside. Murray has firsthand knowledge of the problems that are peculiar to the district in regards to the needs of people in Fort Ord, Marina and Del Rey Oaks as well as Seaside. In his capacity as city councilman, he has had much contact with other areas of the district. For the best representation for this district, we recommend Oliver Murray for the State Assembly.

For Congressman to the 12th district, we recommend O'Brien Riordan. We have watched Riordan develop in the last few months into what we regard as a hard-hitting man who has the courage of his convictions and is willing to stand up for the rights and welfare of all of

Who Cares

Correction - Last week, after we went to press, we learned that it was not Norton Simon who was called a S.O.B. by our worthy governor. Instead it was a fellow by the name of Dutton.

Norton Simon, who aspired to a Senate seat on the ticket or a theory that everybody should be a capitalist, entered into the Board of Regents fracas by being invited by the governor to go outside and fight. Capitalist readers will be pleased to know that his ancestry is clear.

Would you believe that serious crime could be reduced 90 percent? Are you concerned enough about crime to wonder how it could be done? A few years ago I described in a letter to an editor how a

DAV Demands Release of POW Names

A nationwide campaign to encourage millions of Americans to show their concern about the welfare of American men held prisoner or listed as missing in action was announced recently by Disabled American Veterans' (DAV) National Commander, Cecil W. Stevenson.

The DAV is urging the public to demand release of an official list of all prisoners of war in Southeast Asia.

"There are over 1,550 servicemen listed as Missing in Action and wives and their families have not been officially told whether or not they are prisoners of war," according to Stevenson. "Some of these men have been missing in action for as long as six years. Their families have a basic human right to know if they are alive or dead."

The plight of these men and their families has prompted the Disabled American Veterans to produce a series of radio and television spot announcements. Well-known personalities have contributed their time and talent in this nationwide effort to involve all Americans in a show of concern.

Celebrities participating in the radio and television announcements include Lurene Tuttle, Glen Campbell, Lloyd Nolan, Irene Ryan, George Kennedy, Robert Young, Cliff Robertson, Greg Morris, Tige Andrews and Peggy Lipton.

Every commercially licensed radio and TV station will be requested to air these public service broadcast materials. The materials include 20 public service announcements for radio and three television film spots for TV. Some 6,000 radio and television stations will be involved in this effort to determine

This needs to be done the last week of October and the first week of November so our greetings will not be late in arriving. Address any information to P.O. Box 572, Salinas, California 93901. ### Freeway Will Be Extended

The California Highway Commission has cleared the way for the start of construction of an extension of the Monterey Peninsula freeway from Seaside to Fort Ord.

Construction should begin next spring.

The recently approved commission of $905.6 million included funds for the project.

Plans call for an extension of 4.4 miles of the freeway.

According to Frank Gregory, district engineer for the State Division of Highways, a call for bids will be made in January with construction to get underway in April. He estimates that the project will take about two years to complete. Plans call for a six-lane facility including interchanges at the main and north entrances to Fort Ord and an overhead across the Southern Pacific tracks.

Changes in the present road include the elimination of the Gigling Road entrance to the freeway. Gigling will be tied into a frontage road which will attach to the main entrance. Funds in the Commission budget have also been allocated for reconstruction of lanes of Highway 101 between the San Benito County line and a point 3.6 miles south in the Prunedale area.

Marina May Get Signal

In response to a letter and telegram to Governor Reagan, Mr. Chuck Emily of Marina has received a letter from the Department of Public Works in Sacramento.

James A. Moe director of Public works says in it that a study will be made of the possibility that a traffic signal be installed at Highway 1 and Reservation Road.

An answer can be expected in a few weeks after the study of accidents and traffic patterns are compiled.

As most people who use this intersection know, it is a most hazardous and delaying one. If satisfactory results are not obtained, a petition will be circulated for signatures requesting further action, according to Emily.

Appreciation Is Shown

The Marina Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring an appreciation week continuing through October 31 honoring Mr. Harold Deline and the Marina Community News for service to the community.

A recent fire at the residence of Deline, publisher, damaged a press. Yet Deline continues to publish the paper. He has worked with and for the community in civic and youth programs with little return.

The chamber feels, as do many citizens of Marina, that they should assist him in maintaining further publication and ask the people of Marina to respond to a white elephant sale and car wash that is planned for October 31 at the Marina Village Shopping Center parking lot. If you have any contributions of used household or other saleable items, please call 384-6787 and it will be picked up. Let's show our appreciation.

Samuel J. Simmons, Assistant Secretary for Equal Opportunity in the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, warned recently that blockbusting in the sale of housing may be on the increase in the United States. He called for stronger efforts to combat the practice.

"We had hoped blockbusting was disappearing," Simmons said, "but there is evidence plants, produce stand, and art corner."

All merchandise is donated. Raffle tickets will be sold during the sale for one-half side of choice beef packaged to individual specification.

All proceeds are expended back into the community to further Junior League projects. These include the Youth Science Center, Reality House Children's theater and Youth Concerts.

that it may be growing and we want to stop it now."

Blockbusting is a practice in which a real estate dealer tries to induce homeowners to sell by telling them people of a different race or color have moved or are planning to move into a neighborhood.

The Department of Justice recently filed a suit against alleged block-busting tactics in Baltimore. There was a suit in Atlanta several months ago where a blockbuster was halted by a U.S. District Court injunction under the federal law.

Wood Supports Reinecke Plan

Assemblyman Bob Wood has endorsed the program of Lieutenant Governor Ed Reinecke designating October 28, as Prisoner of War Petition Sign-up Day.

The volunteer effort is being coordinated through the Lieutenant Governor's Office by the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia and the American Red Cross.

Wood pointed out that the 1,600 American men held captive or missing in action urgently need the support of the American public to obtain the humane treatment guaranteed by the Geneva Convention. The petitions urge the North Vietnamese to permit the prisoners to correspond with their families by mail; grant inspection of the POW facilities to the International Red Cross or a similar body; guarantee adequate food and provide necessary medical services.

Wood said that Reinecke has been coordinating the efforts of the many groups and organizations seeking humane treatment of prisoners.

Water Study Is Begun

Assemblyman Bob Wood has announced the beginning of a water conservation study which is the outgrowth of legislation passed during the closing days of the regular session. The study is being conducted by the State Water Resources Control Board to evaluate the need for a water quality monitoring program in California. The idea was first brought to the attention of Assemblyman Wood by John Phillips, Director of the Hopkins Marine Station in Pacific Grove.

Wood said that water quality in California should be protected for the use and enjoyment of the people. With the implementation of the tough Porter-Cologne Water Quality Control Act last year, California has the strongest water pollution laws in the country. We must keep pace, the Assemblyman said, with the growing population and industrialization which is greatly responsible for our pollution problem. The study will analyze the need for an early warning system to protect the waterways in California.

The Assemblyman said an environmental monitoring system would assess the implications of present growth and development trends on the environment and to identify at an early time potential threats to public health, natural resources and environmental quality.

The State Water Resources Control Board includes five members who are responsible primarily for licensing the appropriation of water to be put to beneficial use, the control and prevention of water pollution and the advancement planning and research that are essential in carrying out these functions. The State is further divided into nine regional boards, including the Central Coast Regional Control Board which is charged with the responsibility of Monterey County Supervisor Willard Branson of Carmel Valley, Bill Smart of Greenfield, and Jack Brewer of Carmel.

Wood went on to say that this study will be conducted by the State Board throughout California, not just in Monterey County. The Assemblyman said that he hoped next year to be able to extend the request to other elements of our environment such as air

State Economy Will Expand Says Bank

It will be a brand new game for California business during the 1970's, according to a Bank of America report.

No longer will surging economic growth make it difficult for a business to make a "bad" investment decision, the bank said in its annual outlook on the California economy.

"In the period ahead, careful investment planning will be essential. Planning errors can be much more costly than in the past," bank economists said. However, stabilization of aerospace employment and a resumption of growth in the national economy will contribute to increasing consumer confidence, which will spur the state's projected economic expansion.

The economists cited factors contributing to basic changes in the state's economy:

"There is mounting evidence that the growth rate of the California economy will more closely approximate the national growth rate. The growth rate of economic activity in California in the years immediately ahead will be well below the average rate of the past decade and we foresee no early resurgence in the aerospace industry.

"The rate of net migration into California is likely to be below 50,000 per year in the next few years, compared to a rate of 350,000 per year in the early 1960's. This change will tend to reduce the market for new housing units and change the pattern of demand in housing and other markets."

Another aspect of the state's slowing growth rate is reduced federal spending. However, this will result in "steady and sustainable economic expansion" in contrast to past patterns of feast or famine in defense and space spending.

All in all, Bank of America believes most measures of economic activity in the state will show rising growth rates in 1971.

Auto, furniture and appliance sales should increase modestly from the depressed levels of 1970. Even so, with inflation continuing, "The consumer is likely to remain a careful shopper, resulting in increasing competition for his business."

The bank expects total personal income to increase by almost 8 per cent to $95 billion in 1971, compared to a 6 per cent gain in 1970 over 1969.

The number of job holders in the state is projected to increase by 200,000 in 1971. However, the unemployment rate will remain above 6 per cent throughout the year because growth in the labor force will more than offset the gain in employment.

Major gains in employment will continue in the services and government sectors, while manufacturing tends to stabilize and agriculture continues to decline.

the people. As a resident of the coastal area, he is familiar with the tremendous problems that beset our area with regards to the fight against pollution of our air and ocean. Riordan's campaign has gotten him close to the people, so we think that his votes in Congress will be directed at all times to what is good for the majority of the people in his district.

We have begun at the bottom of the ticket first because we believe that the most important offices and the ones that are the closest to the people in the area are those of assemblyman and congressman. These offices are open every two years and are supposed to give the people a chance to change the course of their government if they so desire.

At the top of the ticket, we have searched our souls and studied the issues as represented by both parties and their respective candidates and it is becoming more and more obvious that the rhetoric put out by both parties is just that. If it is difficult for those of us who make a study of politics to make decisions concerning whether the Democrats or the Republicans best represent the needs of the people, then it must be impossible for the man on the street to make a decision from all of the palaver that he is subjected to over the radio, press and TV tube. So here goes for better for for worse.

For governor, Ronald Reagan, Republican. This decision was the hardest of all. We have disagreed with many of the decisions that the governor has made since he has been in office. We also have been able to hail some of his actions. We are hoping that with another term in office he will be able to complete some of the better programs that he has initiated, especially the reform of the tax structure. His position in this regard has improved since he first came to office. We hoped that the Democrats could have run someone better than Jess Unruh in whom we have little faith. Unruh has always looked out for Unruh first and we don't look for any change at this late date.

Ed Reinecke, Republican, is our choice for Lieutenant Governor. Reinecke has grown tremendously since he was appointed to this office. In those areas where he has been able to stand up and speak his own views, as opposed to those of the administration, we have agreed with him. Alfred Alquist, Democrat, is a good friend of ours, but he suffers at this time from too little exposure to statewide issues and, of course, is unfortunate to have been picked as Unruh's running mate.

As far as we are concerned, the only man for the office of Secretary of State is James Flournoy. Flournoy is the first black man ever to be presented by either party for a statewide office as high as this. Since this newspaper believes in equal opportunity including to high office, for all people, be they black, brown or white, we feel that he is best choice for this office.

Houston Flournoy, Republican, is our choice for Controller. We were able to work firsthand with Flournoy when he was an assemblyman and we know him to be capable and completely fair-minded. He can compare with ex-Senator Kuchel, who was the last Republican to hold the office of Controller.

Milton Gordon, Democrat, is our selection for the office of State Treasurer. While in Sacramento, we worked closely with Milton Gordon when he was Real Estate Commissioner for the State of California. Gordon is highly qualified for the office of Treasurer from that experience alone. We were at one time Administrative Assistant to Democratic State Treasurer Bert Betts, so we are familiar with the duties of the State Treasurer and think that Gordon will do a great job in this office.

We endorsed Charles O'Brien, Democrat, last week in our political column. There is no doubt that O'Brien is the man for this office. It is as if he were specially trained for all of his government career just to be Attorney General for the State. His Republican opponent, Evette Younger, has been involved in scandal after scandal down in Los Angeles and leaves a great deal to be desired. We heartily endorse Charles O'Brien for the office of Attorney General.

For member of the Board of Equalization, we endorse George R. Reilly, Democrat. Reilly has the experience and has been fair in his administration of the State's tax laws. None of his opponents can come near to him in ability.

Last and probably most important is our recommendation for United States Senator--John V. Tunney, Democrat. Tunney has been a fighter for the people in his district and for the people of the State of California as a congressman. We want him to continue these policies in the United States Senate. His Republican opponent George Murphy has been a weak senator and has gotten himself involved in a scandal by being on the payroll of a large corporation while a Senator. This alone should disqualify him, although he has not really represented our state in a forceful manner or as well as his Republican predecessor, Senator Kuchel.

Space doesn't allow the presentation of all of the propositions, suffice it to say that we have made a study of them and have made our recommendations elsewhere on this page.

Letter to Editor

Editor: It's a good thing that there is an honest newspaper editor in this city. Seaside should be very proud of Mr. Andy Barragan. This gentleman makes no bones about the truth.

I have been involved with this city for over two years. Things I know to be true I have mailed to the editor of the Herald. They have refused to print them because it was stepping on the toes of the old mayor's "team" council.

There is as much difference in this council as there is between night and day. The four councilmen are very intelligent, honest and realistic; they are taking every problem of this community under consideration. There are many minority groups in this city. I believe many of these groups supported the mayor, but the mayor and his comrades were too busy buying people's property to think about the poor folk at home.

In 1969, Mr. Ross stated that out of 1057 businesses in this city, only 75 had a minority employed. That is one reason the crime rate is so high. It is the mayor's and councilmen's duty to see that all citizens are protected by the laws we now have. These include equal employment.

So, since Mr. Haddad owns a shopping center and the minorities of this city are starving, in the past election they chose to mess up his team. There's that old saying that is the moral of this story: "What does it profit a man to gain the world and lose his soul?"

Frank L. Davis

Steve Ross Reports

The City of Seaside must move forward with its efforts to build a stronger economic base or exert a much greater effort to get some tax shifts at the State and national levels.

We must also do more about building greater social and economic security of our individual citizens. To insure that we MOVE in this direction and that movement be to our present adult generation who live here and to the young generation who will inherit what we leave behind, (for good or ill), I am proposing to the Council that we take two major actions:

First, I propose the establishment of an economic development commission. The objective of this commission is to work continually for the development and strengthening of the economic life of the city and the people of Seaside.

This commission would serve as a promoter of suitable development. This will include suitable industrial and commercial development, area analysis and site selection for such development, transportation, medical, social and recreation facilities, and all community improvement projects related to economic development.

The commission would also do overall economic development planning for the city, on a long and short range basis. It would also coordinate the planning with the surrounding communities, as well as the Overall Economic Development Program Committee for Monterey County.

The commission should have technical support from the total city staff. But the City Manager should serve as the major staff assistant to the Commission. He could designate other department heads or individuals to work with the commission, depending upon the need and the mission to be accomplished. The City Manager or his assistant (depending upon which one is the best program writer) should take maximum advantage of all or as many federally assisted programs as could be utilized, without the city. (There are many sources for grant, jeopardizing and matching funds for this kind of program.)

Because of the many of concern for this kind of commission, I propose that the commission consist of seven regular members. Each Councilman, including the Mayor, would be authorized to appoint one member. For the other two, the Mayor would nominate one and the Vice-Mayor would nominate the other. These two would be approved by the majority vote of the Council.

The Commission should have power to organize and pick its own chairman. The Council, however, should have a liaison representative to the commission. The Councilman would not have a vote, but would report back to the Council each month or as often as necessary. Second, I suggest the establishment of a youth advisory council (with status of other regular commissions).

According to the 1960 Census, the median age for people in Monterey County is 24.8. The median age for the State of California at the same time was 30.0. I believe the age median is even lower now and especially in Seaside. These figures point out very clearly that there is a real need for involvement of youth in the planning and development process of matters that affect their lives.

Not long ago the State of California made a study of the growing concern for youth participation in this state. It was done under the direction of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Children and Youth.

In the course of the study, over four hundred youth, junior high through junior college, were interviewed -- either individually or in groups. In addition, ideas, suggestions and recommendations were made by County Commissions of Youth, County Board of Supervisors, City Councils, City Youth Councils, Boards of Education, principals and faculty members of high schools and colleges, advisors to youth groups, community workers, parents, church youth workers, psychiatrists, psychologists, OEO Officials, community councils, welfare planning councils, administrators of juvenile detention facilities, judges of the juvenile court, juvenile justice commissions, probation and parole officers, coordinating councils, parks and recreation commissions and youth organizations in other states.

The survey indicated the need for such a program. The primary mission of the Youth Council would be to allow new ideas and input into the planning and decision making process.

I propose that this Commission or Council be allowed to advise the Mayor, Council and staff on all city matters that

McGovern Endorses His Party

Sen. George McGovern (D-So. Dakota) visited Monterey County October 19 to attend a Democratic rally in Salinas, followed by a cocktail party in Monterey. The rally, held at the Salinas Democratic Headquarters, drew a crowd of approximately 750 enthusiastic supporters, many of whom drive over from the Peninsula to meet and hear McGovern. The senator, after being introduced by O'Brien Riordan, from Aptos, 12th Congressional District Democratic candidate for Congress, endorsed Riordan, Oliver Murray, Seaside City Councilman and Democratic candidate for Assembly and John Tunney (D-Riverside), candidate for U.S. Senator from California.

McGovern, who said he was "deeply moved" at the size and enthusiasm of the rally audience, noted that a political rally at 5:30 in So. Dakota simply wouldn't draw a crowd. "I think it's some measure of the interest in O'Brien Riordan's and Oliver Murray's campaign in general, that so many showed up today."

He went on to comment on Vice President Spiro Agnew's attacks recently leveled at McGovern:

"Agnew has described me with one of the most impressive compliments I've had from him. He said that I was a 'hopeless, hysterical hypochondriac of history'. I don't really object to being attacked by the Vice President -- in fact, if I ever come in for any praise from this man, I'll be pretty sure I've gone off the track."

He went on to reflect that Agnew represents the national commendations directly to the Council or Commission involved, if they considered it to be necessary at the time. Through this process I believe the youth could effect change by working within the "system."

I recommend that the members retire from the Youth Council when they reach the age of 25, unless they retire earlier for other reasons. Because of the many different commissions and programs to become involved in, I am recommending that the Youth Council be limited to a membership of 15 persons. Each Councilman should be allowed to pick three members. The Mayor should be allowed to pick three.

The Youth Council should be allowed to organize itself and pick its own Chairman.

Each person would serve for a period of two years, with the appointing authority being empowered to re-appoint until the youth reaches age 25. The appointing may replace (at directly affect their lives. The Youth Council would have members to sit in on all Councils and Commission meetings. These liaison representatives suggestions and re-examination of term) or fill vacancies.

Communication Impact Will Be Discussed

Foreign Studies Auditorium, 440 Van Huren, Monterey. The panelists will be Mr. Carl Mansfield, international journalist Mr. Robert Strand, United Press International and Mr. Rod Holmgren, Depart-

Reagan Says Minors Can't Play In Bars

Assembly Bill 1028 has been vetoed by Governor Reagan. It would have permitted the employment of persons 18 to 21 as musicians, for entertainment purposes only, in premises where alcoholic beverages are sold. The measure would have restricted the areas of such employment and provided that no alcoholic beverages would be sold, served, consumed or taken into such areas. In vetoing this bill, the governor said he recognized that the bill was intended to provide young musicians with additional employment and that he favored this objective.

Emblem Can Save Lives

Some 40,000,000 Americans should wear an indelible signal device to indicate that they have hidden medical problems, Dr. E. Vincent Askey of Los Angeles, a past president of the American Medical Association, said recently.

He recommended that these afflicted persons wear the emblem offered by Medic Alert, nonprofit foundation with headquarters in Turlock, California.

Medic Alert offers the best method in combining "an indestructible alerting device with a central life of emergency information." Dr. Askey told the National Association of Life Companies its annual convention.

Among those who should wear the Medic Alert emblem he said, all 11 million arthritics and rheumatic sufferers, 10 million cardiovascular patients, two million diabetics and 1.5 million epileptics.

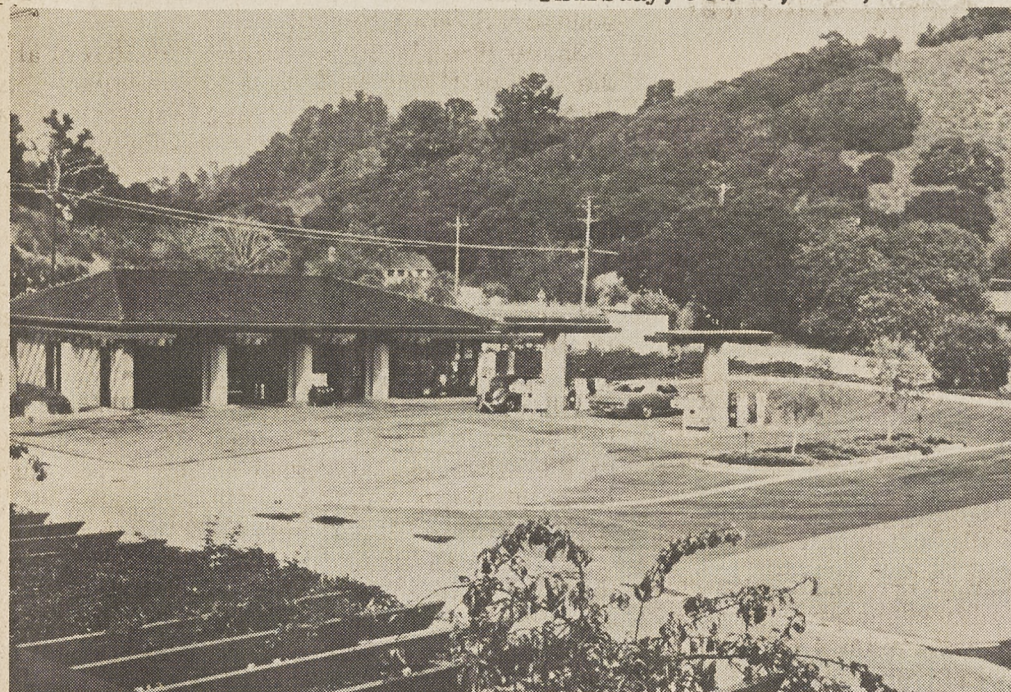

In addition, he said that "ten percent of all people who are inoculated with tetanus antitoxin develop some type of allergy to the serum; and in many cases 'the reaction to another injection would be almost instant death.'"

Dr. Askey described the computerized central answering file, which contains information on all of the foundation's 400,000 members and is available to authorized persons on a collect call basis anywhere at any time, as "the really distinguishing feature of Medic Alert."

Medic Alert was founded by Dr. Marion C. Collins in 1956 when his daughter nearly lost her life after a severe reaction to a scratch test for tetanus antitoxin. He made the first emblem to protect her against similar experiences and thus started an organization which today has nearly 400,000 members. New members are joining at a rate of more than 1,000 a week.

He has commanded the USS McCook (DD-496), USS Cassin Young (DD-793) and USS Galveston (CLG-3).

As deputy director of the Special Projects Office of the Department of the Navy from 1960 to 1963, Rudden was instrumental in the success of the Polaris submarine program.

AWARD WINNER - Shell Oil Company service station in Carmel has been selected by American Association of Nurserymen to receive one of nine national first place awards for landscaping projects. Award was presented to Shell by Interior Secretary Walter Hickel.

Games To Be Held

The Pebble Beach Highland Games and Scottish Gathering, set for October 31 and November 1 at Collins Field in Pebble Beach, will feature athletic events in addition to the dancing and piping competition.

The University of California soccer team will take on the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School soccer team in a match scheduled for Saturday, the 31st at 2 p.m.

Preceding the soccer game will be Scottish athletic competition beginning at 1 p.m. Featured will be the caber toss, heavy stone and the standing broad jump.

The caber is a pole 12 feet long, weighing nearly 80 lbs. This must be balanced and tossed by the competitor. The heavy stone weighs 16 pounds and is more familiar to us as the shot put.

Also included Saturday will be the All-Scottish Breed Dog Show and a performance by the vaulting team of the Pebble Beach Pony Club.

Sunday, band contests will begin at 1 p.m. and end with the massed bands performing together.

Admiral Appears At Banquet

Rear Admiral Thomas J. Rudden Jr. spoke on "Soviet Seapower" at the Navy League of Monterey's banquet last Friday, at the Naval Postgraduate School.

The banquet was part of the Navy Day activities which ran from October 23-25, celebrating the 195th birthday of the U.S. Navy.

Rear Admiral Rudden is the antiship missile defense program coordinator in the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations. He assumed that position in January 1970, after simultaneously commanding Cruiser Destroyer Flotilla Three and Cruiser Destroyer Group, Seventh Fleet.

In the latter capacity he was responsible for the planning and prosecution of surface warfare in the Western Pacific from March to August 1969.

Rudden was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1939 and was aboard the USS California (BB-44) when she was sunk during the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

During the war he saw much action in Pacific Campaigns aboard the USS Cleveland (CL-55).

Grooving Around The Peninsula
with Betty Mann

Hi! there Fellow Peninsulans:

Happenings last week were: The rebuttals, as well as commendations, on the article I wrote about the discussion at a multi-ethnic forum meeting. Wow! did some of my readers get uptight! I guess the shoe fit a lot of feet?

One lady called me at my home (which I didn't dig! my home is my private domain, and any complaints, commendations, and etc. should be directed to the office!) This pleasant speaking but determined, young lady came on strong, like J. Edgar Hoover, wanting to know where was this meeting held, who was present and for me to give her the names of the persons who were present. Can you imagine the nerve and audacity of all this direct probing, which I would have provided gladly, if it would have been presented in a different form. I wondered if she would have called the Herald and demanded them to disclose their contacts and personal info on an article one of their reporters might have covered and written about.

Another interesting phone call came, but it was on a different basis, although it still concerned this same article. The caller was a male friend of mine, who obviously was a little uptight, but didn't want to show it. (smile) He said: "Hi Betty! I'm not really all those things that the ladies at that meeting think I am! They just don't understand my white friend is helping me financially and is helping me to do my thing at home. That's why I chose the other side."

Is this really the truth in most of the case's. Well, any way, it's their thing.

On the pleasant side, I've had a lots of my brothers, both black and white say they dug the article because as blunt as it was, it gave a message that everyone talks quietly about, but is never publicized. One black brother, who was a bit more adamant about it, stated that the article showed the "phony" soul brother, who has switched to the other side. What a traitor he is. "Whew!"

Well, anyway, there will always be pro's and cons on any subject, but please, readers, try to understand that I am a reporter, just reporting the news whether its good or bad. Nothing in this column reflects any of my personal feelings, unless I so state it. As such I have stated many times before I am not a militant or a radical. Those of you who know me personally are aware of this. I have many caucasian friends and neighbors whom I respect deeply. I wouldn't take all the tea in China in exchange for their friendship.

Now for a question and answer game. Make three guesses to the question: "what would make a large group of Carmel residents start up for a young black youth?" The answer is Reginald Knight, son of Mrs. Charlie Knight who resides in Carmel. Reggie was the kick-off man for Carmel High School's football game last week. It seems like Reggie will probably go down in Carmel high's history, as the first black to attend Carmel High and the first black to kick-off for this school. Right on Reggie!

I wonder how many residents, who were sitting in the stands were feeling mixed emotions? Probably some were happy that the school has been liberated (smile); some perhaps thinking "I never thought I would see the day."

Other news of interest, around the bay is the coming election on November 3. I'm sure most of you readers have been following the debates between Wilson Riles and Max Rafferty. It might be of interest to know that the San Jose Mercury news media has switched over from Rafferty to Riles. Three weeks ago the Mercury was fully endorsing Rafferty for his old post of Superintendent of Public Instruction, but they have seen the strength and the progress of Riles. Thus the switch over.

The San Francisco Chronicle, wrote a beautiful editorial on Riles. They also have endorsed him. Now I'm wondering when is ou Monterey Herald going to come forth, for or against my favorite "cooky" Wilson Riles (smile).

Well, now I guess everyone feels better that the suspect in the Santa Cruz murders has been caught. Gosh, were people ever uptight! There was reason to be! I've always wished to be wealthy, but now I don't think it's too fashionable. (smile). It seems like there are so many of the "new breed" resenting the materialistic gains of others an they wish to equalize this thing. So, if you are not going by nature's way, snuff.

In Herb Caen's column last week, this true article appeared under the caption "Out of Season". An insurance company held a tournament at the Sharon Heights Golf and Country Club in Menlo Park the other day and a late arrival charged into his golf togs, he called out, "Hey boy, can I get my shoes shined while I'm out on the course?" "Oh, yes sir!" beamed the "boy" who, after the exec left, put on his own golf clothes and sauntered onto the course. Exec to his partner, "They let the locker room boy play?" Partner: "Locker room boy? Why you hockey puck, that's Willie Mays?" and so it was.

BETTY

HELPING HAND - Over 3,000 pounds of food, clothing and toys have been collected at General George S. Patton Elementary School, Ft. Ord, for community in San Diego county that was completely destroyed in late September fires. When Randy Reinstedt (left rear), 4th grade teacher, learned that San Diego community was so new that most residents didn't even have insurance and lost everything, he suggested that his homeroom class start charity drive. With aid of whole school, it took only seven days to collect huge amount of good for burned out families.

Candidates Talk at MPC

On Tuesday, October 20, Herb Foster, 12th Congressional District candidate and Brady Avery, 34th Assembly District candidate for the Peace & Freedom Party spoke at Monterey Peninsula College.

Brady Avery described in detail his and his family's problems with the police and indicated he felt that some means of community control of police was needed. He also castigated urban redevelopment in Seaside, saying that it had dispossessed the poor to the advantage of the middle class.

Herb Foster echoed this sentiment. He was asked what he thought of O'Brien Riordan, the Democratic candidate for Congress. He said he thought personalities were not the point; that Riordan is personally a fine man, but he is committed to working within the system and not convinced of the revolutionary nature of the changes that are necessary. Yet Foster believes that it is these changes, not the personalities of the candidates, that is crucial.

On Wednesday, October 21, P. & F.'s Senatorial Candidate, Robert Scheer, spoke to an audience of about 200-250, mostly students.

Halloween Magic Helps Many Kids

There really is something magical about Halloween now that millions of American children, including many here in Seaside, celebrate October 31st through Trick or Treat for UNICEF.

Magical because, by their generous response, adults bridge the generation gap, uniting with youngsters in a common effort to aid the less fortunate children of the developing nations.

Magical because helping the United Nations Children's Fund to cure the sick, feed the hungry and educate the untrained and illiterate is one important step toward eliminating the differences between the world's haves and have-nots.

Magical because the coins that are dropped into those black and orange UNICEF cartons add up to millions of dollars ($3,250,000 last year) for UNICEF's world-wide health, nutrition and education programs.

Magical because for a single penny UNICEF can supply the vaccine to protect a child against smallpox or tuberculosis; because one nickel buys the antibiotic ointment to cure a case of trachoma; because a dime translates into seed to sow 200 feet of vitamin-rich carrot row; because a quarter pays for an education kit for a primary school child.

Yet, UNICEF's Trick or Treat is real magic - made by every man, woman and child who participates in the Halloween collection. We hope that all the citizens of Seaside will become magicians this year.

Ricardo Romo, candidate for Governor was also scheduled but was unable to come.

Scheer started out by exhorting Tunney as a tool of special interests and more dangerous than Murphy, who is essentially dead, in that he has not Tunney's dynamism. Scheer gave examples of how Tunney is completely cynical in saying different things to different people. Also, documentation was given about how Tunney was tied to real estate and aerospace interests.

Scheer then moved into a description of his experiences on his recent visit to China, North Vietnam and North Korea, painting a picture of a new society that is incomprehensible to Americans and westerners generally.

Scheer claimed to have predicted Nixon's peace proposals and said they are window dressing, that if Nixon had been serious he would have made them to the North Vietnamese and Vietcong privately and at Paris. Scheer believes that he will continue to have 200,000 troops in Vietnam and that we have no intention of getting out, the current withdrawals being merely a sop to middle class America, so college students don't need to be drafted. He believes that we do not dare lose in Vietnam because that would give heart to guerillas all over the world.

Lastly, Scheer believes the Peace & Freedom Party is not running an ordinary campaign, but essentially is an educational agency and that campaigning is only part of what this party does.

Blood Bank Is Approved Once More

The blood bank at Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula again has been certified by the American Association of Blood Banks, Dr. Osman Hull, pathologist at Community Hospital, said recently.

Dr. Hull said the American Association of Blood Banks makes a thorough inspection at Community Hospital every three years. The latest approval is for another three year period.

In announcing that the hospital has again met all national requirements for its blood bank, Dr. Hull said there is growing need for more donors.

He said the hospital has a family blood plan whereby a donation of a unit of blood by one member of a family insures that the entire family's blood needs, including costs, will be met for one year.

Donors may make arrangements to contribute by calling the hospital laboratory from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The telephone number is 624-5311.

"I estimate we have 30,000 qualified blood donors on the Peninsula while only 2,000 are active donors. It is difficult to keep pace with the growing need for blood," Dr. Hull said.

He said persons 18, 19 and 20 may now contribute blood without the consent of their parents.

Also, the previous age limit of 59 has been extended one year. The maximum age for donors is now 60, subject to the usual conditions of good health.

Sermon Will Discuss Justice

The importance of nations as well as individuals being just and right will be emphasized Sunday in all Christian Science churches on the Monterey Peninsula. Services will begin at 11 a.m.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon on "Everlasting Punishment" is the Golden Text from Proverbs: "Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people." A passage to be read from

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "Through the wholesome chastisements of Love, we are helped onward in the march towards righteousness, peace and purity, which are the landmarks of Science."

What It Is And What It Isn't

CONCENTRATION CAMPS?

Against the war in Vietnam? Suppose Attorney General John Mitchell announced that all anti-war activists were to be put into concentration camps? Seem impossible? Right now, there is a law on the books that can do such a thing.

During the "McCarthy era" of anti-communist hysteria, the McCarran Act, or the Detention Camp law, was passed in Congress over President Truman's veto.

This law gives the president or his agents the power to detain anyone who is believed to be involved in "acts of espionage or sabotage" during an "internal security emergency". But process of the law is ignored; there is no trial by jury for the accused. Only a hearing is held.

When the bill was passed President Truman warned: "It is not enough to say that this probably would not be done. The mere fact that it could be done shows clearly how the bill would open a Pandora's box of opportunities for official condemnation of organizations and individuals for perfectly honest opinions."

Student dissidents, minority group nationalists and other dissenters could be prime targets for detention.

Most people may say "impossible," but during World War II, 110,000 persons of Japanese ancestry were detained in concentration camps on suspicion only. The F.B.I. and Army and Navy Intelligence reported that not one act of espionage or sabotage was caused by a person of Japanese ancestry living in the U.S. before, during or after WWII.

The fight to repeal the Detention Camp Law of the Internal Security Act of 1950 began in 1969, when a bill was introduced into the Senate. The Senate has passed the repeal bill and the decision is now up to the House of Representatives.

Write your congressman, Burt Talcot, and urge him to vote for total repeal, or you may find yourself looking through barbed wire.

FT. ORD GATES

The closing of the gates on Ft. Ord causes a great deal of inconvenience. In the evenings after a few gates have been closed, it's necessary to drive all over the post just to get off.

It's worse in the mornings when all the parents drive their sons and daughters to Seaside High School. They all leave by the only gate that is open. This causes a large traffic jam.

One puzzling question is why do they check all the cars coming onto the post, but not those leaving? They complain about getting rifles stolen, but then anyone who wants to steal one can just leave the post without even being questioned.

Students are complaining because the only way to get to Seaside High in the morning is to walk all the way around on Monterey Road or Ord Avenue.

On way to solve a problem like this is to check cars more thoroughly or open the gates back up. The way things are set up now, it isn't doing any good!

CAMPUS DISORDER

Campus disorder is one of the main problems in colleges, universities and even some high schools today.

Many people ask why. The main reason, it appears, is that students care. Students care about many of the problems that everyone faces today. They worry about the war, the nation, the people, poverty and ecology.

Many people disagree with the ideals of protesting, but there are reasons why students turn to this tactic for voicing their opinion.

One reason is that many parents will not sit down and listen. The only way the students think they will be heard is by protesting. Peaceful protest is fine the people say, although peaceful protest doesn't always seem to get the message across. This can lead to violent demonstrations. How can this problem be solved? By giving kids a chance to talk and be heard.

TOGETHERNESS OVERALL'S

Have you seen the latest fashion on campus? Is it the midi, maxi or mini? No, it's the togetherness overalls. Beware they are taking over very rapidly.

They are so big two could do their thing in them. A person could also swim a mile in them, slop the hogs, engineer a train and go down to the labor fields in Salinas. Man, it's enough to turn you off cold!

NEED HELP

The California Association of Student Councils (CASC), lack statewide support. The members of CASC represent only a small minority of California high schools.

CASC has lost the Los Angeles membership and also does not include the San Francisco area. This leaves a little over a dozen schools in CASC. With this number, the California Association of Student Councils is hardly an appropriate name, when CASC represents barely three counties.

At their first meeting, little was accomplished. There was discussion about what type of meeting to have, whether to sponsor a dance or not and some other irrelevant topics.

During the entire meeting there was no mention of school problems and grievances. The CASC has forgotten the main purpose of its organization, which is to discuss school problems, help solve them and improve inter-school relationships.

STUDENT OPINION

As it stands now, we seniors of Seaside High have off-campus privileges at lunch time only. If we don't make it back in time we are slapped with a tardy, like a grade-schooler. If someone goes for a quick cruise during the mid-morning break, some "creep" is out in the parking lot ready to take down license number.

Most of us are under the impression that our senior year in high school, more than any other year in school, is to prepare us for college and the outside world. So seniors, let's get it together and push for total privileges.

Bob Wood Reports

The 1970 Legislative Session, as some of you may know, was the longest in the history of the State and when the final records are published it will be found that the Legislature was in session 229 days or approximately eight months. Over 5,500 separate bills, resolutions and constitutional amendments were introduced.

To be frank about it, I personally feel it wasn't nearly long enough. Too many bills are crammed into the legislative hopper the last few days of the regular session and it is physically impossible to find ample time to study each and every one. A person has the constant worry during those last few weeks that he or she (there are three Assemblywomen) might unsuspectingly pass something that has not been sufficiently reviewed to insure sound judgment before making a decision or possibly fail to pass a measure which is justified and beneficial to the majority of people he or she represents.

I think several legislators feel the same way and when enough of us agree I hope we can change the procedure to allow ample time to study each measure. Of course, the majority of the bills did not pass, but a couple of measures

I thought you might be interested in did make it. Did any of you happen to read in the San Francisco papers recently where tests showed that there was actually less smog over the Bay area today than there was several years ago.

I am sure it is hard for many of us to believe this, but scientists say it is a fact and this improving trend didn't just happen by accident.

Smog has actually been a matter of concern for over twenty years and it took some research to finally determine that the principle cause of this blight in our skies was the motor vehicle. As far back as 1959 the Legislature directed the State Department of Public Health to establish standards for clean air and to cite limits for motor vehicle emissions. In 1961 the first real control began with the installation of anti-smog devices on cranks of new cars. Then in 1966 regulations were initiated pertaining to devices to reduce exhaust emissions.

Another new law recently signed will provide for testing of cars at their factories to assure that they meet smog control requirements and also provide a $5,000 penalty upon manufacturers for each sale of a vehicle which does not meet the standards set up by the Air Resources Control Board.

Another law we passed this year would prohibit the sale and registration of a new motor vehicle without a decal attached showing that applicable exhaust emission standards have been met.

These laws are a must for if the present trends continue, we estimate that 42 million Californians will be operating 23 million vehicles and burning 25 million gallons of gas by the year 2,000 and this is only 29 years away.

By that time we hope to have all auto emissions reduced by 92%. This is a good goal to shoot for. Maybe we can reach it with the help of Rapid Transit and more bicycles being put into use in metropolitan areas.

Maybe we won't have to do like the bumper sticker recommended. It reads: "Stop Smog, Buy a Horse". The only problem with this is, I am afraid that if everyone who now has a car bought a horse, it is possible we might be faced with another type of pollution problem.

MORE MILK

Dr. W.H. Sebrell, nutrition director at Columbia University, says eating cereal "actually is a good way to get children to use more milk."

Wood Endorses Americans Safety Propositions On Everest Is Topic Standard Urged

Assemblyman Bob Wood announced his endorsement of two environmental bond proposals, Proposition 1 and Proposition 20, on the November third ballot.

Wood endorsed Proposition 1, a proposal to provide $250 million in bonds to finance local sewage treatment facilities, calling the measure "a bi-partisan, widely supported proposal which gained the unanimous support of both houses of the legislature".

He pointed out there has been no visible opposition to the plan in which the State would pay, out of this fund, 25 percent of the cost to local governments for the building and improving of sewage treatment facilities. Because of this participation, local communities on the Peninsula would be able to take advantage of additional Federal aid, increasing it from a maximum of 33 percent to a maximum of 55 percent.

Proposition 20, which provides $60 million for recreation and fish and wildlife enhancement through planning and developing of such facilities, also gained Wood's endorsement.

Specifically, this money would be used for recreation and fish and wildlife projects on property used by the California Water Project. Only one negative vote was recorded during passage by the Assembly and the Senate.

Dr. Luther G. Jerstad, a member of the 1963 American Mount Everest expedition and one of five to reach the summit, will lecture and narrate a film on that adventure tomorrow night (Friday) at 8 p.m. in Monterey Peninsula College's music hall.

He will be the third speaker in MPC's popular "Outer Limits" forum series. Tickets, at $1.25, may be purchased in advance at the college community services office and will be available at the door on the lecture night, "Americans on Everest," the color film to be shown while Dr. Jerstad shares notes from his expedition diary with his audience, includes the first footage to be taken from the top of the world's highest peak (29,028 feet).

Now an assistant professor of theater arts at Lewis and Clark College in Oregon and a specialist in Asian theater, Jerstad earned his B.A. at Pacific Lutheran University in 1958, his M.A. at Washington State University in 1962 and his Ph.D. at the University of Oregon in 1966.

For his Everest achievement, he was awarded the Hubbard Medal by John F. Kennedy, the Eliza Kent Kane Medal for Exploration and the Explorers Club Achievement Award.

State Senator Edward Speno of Illinois has asked Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe to "halt all buses in the country until they meet standards of safety now lacking in their window design." Speno is chairman of both the National Motor Vehicle Safety Advisory Council and the New York Joint Legislative Committee on Transportation.

"Almost every bus on our highways," said the senator, "is a potential death trap because of faulty design which allows its windows to pop out upon impact."

His request was precipitated by last month's accident near Allentown, Pennsylvania, last month in which seven children were killed and 50 others injured. Senator Speno said that the window design "compounded the seriousness of the tragic accident."

He suggested that the federal government begin the design and testing of an experimental safety bus and asked for uniform qualification standards for all bus drivers throughout the nation. "The small number of misfits must be weeded out by national edict," said the senator.

Your Social Security

By: Raymond MacDonald

Q. I started my own business at home after a recent illness forced me to quit my job with a jewelry manufacturing company. I know that self-employed persons are responsible for paying their own Social Security contributions, but I don't know just how or when to go about it. Can you help me out?

A. Keep April 15th in mind, because that is the deadline for filing your Federal income tax return, and your Social Security report of income from self-employment is a part of it. You need Internal Revenue Form 1040, and Schedules C, SE, and T. These should be filled out after any year in which you have net earnings of $400 or more from self-employment. You can get copies of the forms and instructions for completing them from any Internal Revenue Service office.

Q. I will be 62 years old within three months and I expect to retire on my birthday. How soon can I file my application with you for Social Security benefits?

A. You can file now. An application is valid if filed in one of the three months prior to the month that you attain the required age. Before you come into our office, you should call us by telephone so that we may be able to inform you of exactly what proofs or documents you should bring with you. You will find that your application will be

country in Europe virtually wiped out crime by using drug injections as a means of punishment instead of sentencing the criminal to prison terms.

The injections were so sickening that the recipients never ever wanted to experience them again. There simply were no repeat crimes and as word got around there was almost no crime, period.

A similar system is now being used at Vacaville as a very effective means of stopping rule infractions at the state medical facility. The drug used at Vacaville makes the patient (or victim) think he is dying by choking and he probably would except for controlled artificial respiration.

So, when you read of murders and rapes and assaults and robberies, don't say to yourself, "how terrible." Instead, say to yourself and to the victims, "I apologize. What happened could have been prevented, if our society cared as much for the victims as it does for the criminals."

The victims and their survivors and society in general have to abide by the rules. They must not inflict "cruel and inhuman punishment" and the use of such a drug as a punishment to replace our present ineffective incarceration system would be unthinkable.

Criminals, on the other hand, ignore the rules completely. They do absolutely nothing to deserve consideration or kindness or fair play from the civilization they have chosen to antagonize. They destroy a life without remorse, then demand and receive every consideration a permissive, apathetic, uncaring society can give. So, let us not deplore crime. Not when the fault lies heavily with each of us and not when we have the means to reduce it, but prefer not to dirty our hands with effective methods that do not happen to be old, established traditional methods.

Drunk-Test Device Tested

The AC Electronics Division of General Motors is now at work testing a device which is intended to reduce auto fatalities caused by significant alcohol levels in the blood of the drivers.

Recently, it was demonstrated at GM's New York City headquarters, at 767 Fifth Avenue.

The device is built into the instrument panel and when the ignition key is turned on it displays for a few seconds a random number of up to five digits from one to nine. The numbers then disappear and keys on a board just below are illuminated. The driver then has a short space of time in which to punch the numbers which he has just seen displayed. If he does this correctly in the time allowed, the car starts automatically. But if the driver fails the test he still has two more chances to start the car by punching out numbers. However, different numbers are displayed on his second and third tries. If he fails again and again, he cannot start his car for an extended period of time.

According to GM's automotive safety director, Trevor O. Jones, the test checks four human faculties which are affected by excessive amounts of alcohol -- judgment, coordinated motor response, visual acuity and short-term memory.

He stated that if the device can be perfected, it could be sold for less than the price of a car radio.

One unanswered question is how the device can stop a driver who is drunk but has a sober parking lot attendant to start his car.

Jones mentioned that the same device could be used to prevent thefts or the starting of the vehicle by young children, with the issuance of a fixed number known only to the car owner.

Community Chest Night Tommorrow

McDonald's Seaside Restaurant at 1433 Fremont Blvd., will observe its third annual "Community Chest Night" between 5 and 8 p.m. this Friday, October 30.

As in the past two years, all receipts from the sale of food and beverages during this three-hour period will be donated to the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest. The annual Chest drive which has as its goal the raising of $230,000 for the 1971 operations of its fifteen member agencies is now under way.

McDonald's, announced that all employees have volunteered to give their wages for the three-hour period to the Community Chest.

Last year the employee-management contribution to the Community Chest amounted to approximately $800.

Questions Are Answered

Q. I recently married a widow with an 18-year-old son who is attending college. He is now my stepson. Is he eligible for educational assistance, since I am 100 percent permanently disabled due to service?

A. No. In order to qualify for this benefit, your stepson must have acquired this relationship prior to the attainment of age 18.

Q. As a veteran, am I entitled to extra payment from the VA if I have been confined to a VA hospital more than 21 days?

A. That depends on two factors. If you were hospitalized for a nonservice condition--no. Yes, if your hospitalization was for an established service-connected condition.

Q. I served in the army from June to December 1955, and suffered no injuries. Recently, my doctor advised me that I have a disability which will prevent me from following regular employment. Am I eligible for a nonservice pension?

A. No. In order to qualify for a nonservice pension, you must have served 90 days of continuous active duty, any part of which was during a wartime period. Since your service was not during wartime, you are not eligible for pension under existing laws.

Board of Education Meets

Education in Marina, pre-school classes through Los Arboles Junior High School and of Marina students who attend Seaside High School was topic of the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District's first regular board meeting in different communities 1970-71 and start of Marina Community Schools Week, October 19-24.

Some 150 spectators, parents, teachers, students, and official PTA representatives attended the event at Marina Del Mar School, 8:00 to 10:40 p.m.

John Goodloe, principal of the host school, explained the pre-school education classes held there for children ages 3-5 whose families qualify. There are 15 pupils each in morning and afternoon classes.

The purpose is to provide educational experiences which will help children make the transition to kindergarten.

In other business, the board resolved to place pre-school class teachers on the regular teachers' salary schedule effective July 1971, as all of them now hold regular California credentials.

The kindergarten program at Olson School was discussed by William Bear, principal, who said that there now are specific reading and mathematics readiness programs in kindergarten, but children advance at their own pace.

James Olivas, principal of Crumpton School, kindergarten and grades 1-3, told advantages of the primary school, better communication among teachers, easier arrangements for different reading and mathematics groups.

The nearby Marina Vista School serves kindergarten and grades 3-6. Principal Bob Bidy explained the split reading-mathematics and rotating period schedule, which allows for large group instruction in non-basic subjects, as physical education, health, music and library skills and smaller group instruction for reading and mathematics. The program is possible because of volunteer parent and student aides. Teachers are enthusiastic about results.

The Los Arboles Junior High School teacher aide program was presented by Robert Stadille, principal and teacher Richard Bird. Selected volunteer students go twice a week to an elementary school in Marina to assist teachers in many ways, as to listen to small reading groups, help prepare room environment, distribute milk, collect milk money and free the teacher to give more individual attention to some pupils. Several students told how rewarding the experience has been for them.

Earlier in the meeting the board approved a developmental course of study in the world of construction at Los Arboles Junior High School, on presentation by Stadille and teacher Robert Haley. There is no provision for shop course at Los Arboles, but this program will offer both boys and girls basic knowledge and skills development about construction technology which may or may not lead to a career in the building trades, but will make them more alert to quality construction and the steps required in site preparation and building methods of use to them later in buying, planning, building, or repairing their own homes.

James Solberg, principal of the Seaside High School which serves Marina, Fort Ord and part of Seaside community, made three points. He said that student behavior has improved based on the simple

League Makes Endorsements

The League of Women Voters of the Monterey Peninsula has strongly endorsed 7 of the propositions on the November 3rd ballot and is working actively for their passage. According to Mrs. W. E. Bleick, local Monterey Peninsula League president, the League supports Propositions 1, 9, 14, 15, 16, 17 and 18. This support is based on recent statewide studies and reviews of the subjects in question.

Proposition 1, the "Clean Water Bond Law of 1970", provides for $250 million in State general obligation bonds to help finance local public sewage treatment and disposal works.

These funds would supplement federal grants over the next five years. The League believes that all Californians have a stake in the improvement of water quality. Strict enforcement of anti-pollution laws is expected, while the citizen in turn has a responsibility to help pay for the modernization and expansion of public waste treatment facilities. At present local government, through the property tax, bears the major cost of constructing treatment and disposal works. Under Proposition 1, some of the cost would be shared by the State through grants, which is not now the case, supplementing federal aid.

The League supports Proposition 9. This would allow boards of supervisors in non-charter counties such as Monterey, to provide, with voter approval, for the appointment of a county superintendent of schools. Now both the County School Board and the County Superintendent must be elected and neither is legally subordinate to the other.

FIRST DUTY — Airman William McBride, whose parents live in Seaside, has received his first Air Force duty assignment. He has been assigned to unit of Strategic Air Command for training and duty in fuel services.

lems of inflation and intermittent credit stringency.

"The problem looming ahead is how to sustain a slow rate of price increases while fully employing our resources."

ordinate to the other.

Partial revision of California's constitution is put forth in Propositions 14, 15, 16 and 17. League of women Voters all over California have continued to work for a State Constitution which contains fundamental law arranged in an orderly format and written in clear concise language. California's present constitution is none of these. It is filled with statutory detail and obsolete provisions. The League believes that the Constitutional Amendments, 14-17, are another step toward in the historic effort of the Constitution Revision Commission and the State Legislature to provide a more efficient document.

Proposition 18, the "clean air" measure amending the Constitution to allow for a balanced use of gas taxes, is also strongly endorsed by the League.

League members support the use of gas tax funds for air pollution control, as well as for mass transit systems. Presently, gasoline taxes must only be used for highway maintenance and construction. It is felt that since the auto is responsible for over 80% of air pollution, it is reasonable to require auto users to pay for pollution control. Mass transit systems, by replacing individually driven autos, would certainly help to reduce smog.

Warning Is Issued On Pollution Of Privacy

Legislation to make personal information a property right was proposed recently in Washington by a computer manufacturing executive, to safeguard the privacy of the individual.

Use of computers involves some "dangerous side effects" than can and must be prevented, according to Robert P. Henderson, vice president and general manager of Honeywell's Electronic Data Processing Division.

Henderson spoke at a symposium of the National Archives and Record Service of the General Services Administration.

He predicted that computers and their users will cause a "pyramiding of man's knowledge and intellectual accomplishment staggering to consider."

Henderson said that "the computer itself does not create any invasion of privacy. The only new element in the centuries-old threat to privacy posed by surveillance and record-keeping is the computer's fantastic efficiency." The computer industry can do much to solve the new problems, he said in outlining the "heavy responsibility" of manufacturers.

He said they can build safeguards into system design, such as limiting the persons allowed to enter information, the classifying of data and the stringent limitation—through codes—of access to stored information.

He called on managers of computer systems to exercise "sensitive control" over the trustworthiness of operating personnel.

"What goes into files is a management decision," said Henderson, "perhaps the question needs to be asked more frequently, 'Is this information really necessary?'"

He suggested controls to limit the input of trivial information and limit the time personal data is stored "so that a youthful indiscretion wouldn't haunt a man's record for the rest of his life."

The speaker called for new legislation to provide a citizen with the ability to challenge in court the release of private data about him without his consent.

He added: "If he is to have any control, he must be aware that personal data is stored in a computer system, and have the right to examine it and challenge it. He must be able to know who has access to the information and to what outside agents it might be released."

Henderson suggested that the protections of due process afforded property under present laws be extended to personal information, with criminal penalties for improper conduct in gathering, storing or releasing personal information.

He urged that the general public become involved in the privacy issue.

Atlas Aids Motorists

Tourists planning to drive in Europe will find the new expanded edition of Jerry D. Ryan's European Motoring Atlas useful—both enroute and while they are planning their itinerary.

The book is illustrated with 74 intra-city maps covering more than 35,000 miles of Europe's most traveled routes. Charts give driving time between key cities and towns, with distances marked in miles rather than kilometers.

Other contents include models, special area maps, foreign motoring terms, customs regulations, document and insurance requirements and conversion tables.

Phone Company Is Moving

Pacific Telephone has announced plans for expansion in Monterey. Don Boston, local manager, said the firm will lease a soon-to-be-constructed two-story building at 787 Munras Avenue designed to house an expanded public business office, plus local marketing, plant and other administrative offices.

"We've simply outgrown our present facilities on Franklin Street and must make the move if we are to keep up with the growing communications needs for the Monterey Peninsula," he said.

Boston said the 26,000 square-foot structure, which will measure approximately 93 x 120 feet, will be of steel, wood frame and plaster construction "in keeping with the Monterey tradition."

He said the new building would contain a subterranean parking area for employees and should be ready for occupancy sometime next summer.

Yours For the Asking

Rampages by man and the forces of nature wreaked colossal destruction in the destruction in the United States in 1969.

Civil disorders, catastrophic windstorms and record losses from crimes, fires and auto accidents, helped push underwriting losses of the nation's property and liability insurance companies to nearly $500 million.

Statistics on natural and man-made disasters in 1969 are contained in the 10th annual edition of "Insurance Facts," a publication of the Insurance Information Institute.

Single copies of the 80-page booklet are free for the asking. The Institute's address is 110 William Street, New York NY 10038.

Reference to the Institute's source book provides a statistical picture of spiraling crime rates and slaughter on the nation's highways.

A feature of interest in this year's "Insurance Facts" contains the eye-opening results of the 1970 auto crash tests conducted by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety. An accompanying chart shows the estimated dollar damage to autos involved in front and rear-end low-speed crashes.

A total of 21 catastrophes -- each involving insured damage of more than $1 million -- are included in the chronicle of losses for the year.

In a review of other important developments in 1969, the booklet contains these interesting facts:

*Riots and civil disorders in 1969 caused an estimated $31.3 million in insured damage in more than 120 cities and communities across the nation.

*Crimes involving property outraced all previous years, plaguing insurers with more frequent and costly claims. During the year, auto thefts rose 12.1 per cent over 1968, robbery was up 13.7 per cent, burglary 6.6 per cent and larceny 19.0 per cent.

*Insurers continued to suffer from the effects of auto accidents, which in 1969 left 56,400 persons dead and more than 5 million injured. Economic losses resulting from traffic crashes jumped from $14.25 billion in 1968 to last year's record $16.5 billion.

*Inflation conspired as a villain in the fire loss story. Although the number of recorded fires declined slightly, dollar losses rose from $1.8 billion in 1968 to more than 1.95 billion last year.

Army Nursing Scholarships Are Offered

The United States Army is offering qualified young men and women a valuable opportunity to prepare for a professional nursing career through the Walter Reed Army Institute of Nursing (WRAIN) program, local Army recruiting officials have announced.

Under the WRAIN program, qualified high school graduates planning nursing careers may receive all educational expenses from the Army for four years of college or university work. In addition, they receive a salary while enrolled in the program.

Prerequisites include high class standing in high school and satisfactory performance on the College Entrance Examination Board or the American College Test.

The first two years of the program are spent in an accredited four-year college or university of the candidate's choice, to complete general education and pre-professional courses. The Army pays tuition and fees to the college. The student receives monthly pay and allowances for room, board and personal expenses.

The candidate then enrolls for the last two years in the University of Maryland's School of Nursing. The Walter Reed Army Medical Center provides clinical nursing and other educational experience.

Upon graduation and successful completion of a state license examination in professional nursing, the candidate is commissioned a first lieutenant in the U.S. Army Nurse Corps. The obligation for service is three years.

Applications for the WRAIN program are being accepted now through March 15, 1971. Interested high school seniors are urged to contact Sergeant Jose Garcia at 431 Webster Street in Monterey or talk to their school counselor.

BEER PRODUCTION

In 1969, California's 10 operating breweries produced 10,131,835 barrels of beer to make the state the 5th largest producer in the United States.

GM Defends Variances

After notification by the National Highway Safety Bureau that civil penalties had been levied against GM for two minor inadvertent variances from a federal standard for vehicle backup lamps, the company announced that:

"The variances in backup lamps of 325,000 full-size 1970 Chevrolet passenger cars and 1,145 1970 Buick Estate wagons produced early in the model year were minor and inadvertent noncompliances with the federal standard. Nevertheless, GM brought the variances to the attention of the National Highway Safety Bureau when GM discovered them and took steps to correct each in our further production by redesigning the lens so it had a raised center portion."

GM's statement added that: "Acting on its own initiative, GM is notifying the owners of the involved vehicles explaining the variances. Each owner is being advised that if he wishes redesigned lenses installed on his vehicle it will be done at GM expense at any Chevrolet or Buick dealer."

According to GM, the "variances in both instances in no way affect the safety of the driver or passengers or the safe operation of the car," the driver's visibility in backing up, or visibility to a driver of a car behind.

Bumpers Are Safe

The Southern California Rapid Transit District's nationally recognized transit safety program is being expanded with the testing of water bumpers.

Acting on the motion of RTD's directors, the District authorized the project at a recent meeting.

"Experience in other communities with the bumper has shown that when accidents do occur, damage is minimal or nonexistent, and injuries are avoided," said Director David K. Hayward.

The bumper operates on the principle that when there is an applied force on collision, some of the energy of the impact is absorbed by the bumper and released as water, reducing the impact. The bumper is made of vinyl plastic.

Blacks Need More Funds From Government, More Help From Each Other

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., which recently held its 64th anniversary convention in Philadelphia, adopted a strong public policy statement that included recommendation of measures necessary to assist black Americans to move immediately into every area of the social order.

Dr. Lionel H. Newsom, immediate past president and chairman of the Committee on Public Policy, said that Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity strongly supports a call for a coalition of black organizations representing all kinds of opinion and need within the black community, as recently advocated by Whitney Young, director of the National Urban League, as well as the extensive use of black contractors in Model Cities and other construction projects, particularly when federal funds are involved.

Dr. Newsom added that "Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity recognizes the Urban Crisis as one of the most serious domestic problems. The areas of the 10 largest cities where black people live have the most deteriorated housing, the oldest and most overcrowded schools, the highest rates of unemployment, the lowest median family income, the least political participation and the highest crime rate. We urge increased support of education by the federal government immediately.

The statement called for Congressional action to alleviate the suffering of millions of unfortunate citizens in poverty areas and also draw our troops from the Vietnam war.

"Alpha Phi Alpha urges the full utilization of black workers in the construction industry' apprenticeship programs to all blacks who apply; the upgrading of skills and economic benefits of those black mechanics who have been disadvantaged in employment; open hiring halls, and the elimination of the seniority system which causes black workers to be the first fired when the business-cycle turns downward.

"While we support law and order, we must be guaranteed that blacks will have protection from the law as well as protection by the law. Social injustice is prerequisite to social order in a democratic society. The No-Knock provision of the District of Columbia Crime Bill, enacted by Congress and signed into law by the President, is now a threat to every black man, woman and child in America. For the black man in this nation, his home is not his castle."

Dr. Norman C. Francis, president of Xavier Univer-

Fresno Youth Is Youngest Elected Black

State Senator Mervyn M. Dymally (D, Los Angeles), Chairman of the California Conference of Black Elected Officials, has announced the admittance to membership of California's newest and youngest black elected official, Robert Louis Trotter, 22, was elected to the Fresno School Board in June of this year. When sworn in on July 16, Trotter became the first black to attain a major public office in Fresno. The Fresno County Board coordinates 54 school districts and thus is second in size only to Los Angeles. Trotter is the son of the Reverend and Mrs. E. J. Trotter of Fresno. He was educated in Fresno public schools and studied journalism at Woodbury College. "We welcome Bob Trotter to the Black Elected Officials Conference," said Senator Dymally.

Gives Sound Advice

Business cannot stand apart from the great social problems of our day, James M. Roche, chairman of the Board of General Motors, said recently. "Instead we must recognize that we have a responsibility to help resolve them--and each of us must do his full share."

Addressing a luncheon meeting of the New York Chamber of Commerce, he expressed the belief that businessmen should listen to current criticism.

"Although we may disagree with it, we must nevertheless heed it," he said. "We have to think through much of what we have previously accepted without question. We must ask ourselves new questions--and we must find new answers--not to satisfy our critics, but to satisfy ourselves."

He took issue with many modern critics of American institutions who "renew on responsibility."

"It is strange that among those who are most vocal in saying that our institutions must be more responsible are they whose actions and words deny their own responsibilities," Roche said.

"Many of the modern critics themselves renege on responsibility--the responsibility of a student to his teacher, or a child to his parent, or a citizen to law enforcement, or a soldier to his service. They speak instead of new responsibilities -- responsibilities they apply not to themselves, but to others."

Noting that government, schools, the church and business are all subject to attacks, Roche asserted that "widespread criticism is rendered irrational by violence and destruction. It is amplified by demonstration and dissent."

He termed the outbreaks a "form of pollution...of American ideals and of our society's standards of civilized behavior."

He also challenged critics who accuse industry of engaging "in a single-minded pursuit of profit without due regard for social progress."

"I submit that profit and social progress go hand-in-hand," he said. "Our American system, the profit system--or free enterprise, or capitalism, call it what you will--has produced a far better social product than any other system I know about. We have not yet developed a perfect social order. But our obligation as Americans is to improve it, not to tear it down."

"Mismanaged industry can neither make a profit nor build a nation," he added. "It is profit that has financed the growth and progress that have helped American achieve the highest standard of living in the world."

"WATCH THE BIRDIE!" It's not famous Daguerre behind old-fashioned camera, it's Sergeant First Class Edward F. Doyle, photographer of Army Combat Developments Command Experimentation Command at Fort Ord who's trying out latest addition to his collection of cameras. It dates back to the turn of century, for sure and is perhaps a good deal older than that. It was discovered in abandoned hotel which was closed for good in 1907. SFC Doyle, who is currently non-commissioned officer in charge at CDCEC's Information Office, has been taking pictures of military events, combat action, autopsies, accidents, VIPs and other people during his almost 25 years in the Army. Doyle is expert on cameras new and old, but this is the oldest one in his extensive collection.

Producer 'Explains'

William Greaves, winner of the Atlanta International Film Festival's Special Jury Gold Medal Award for his documentary film "In the Company of Men," has achieved another plateau.

Bill's first feature film, "Symbiopsychotaxiplasm Take One," is now a few months from release. It is described as an extraordinary film encompassing a myriad of film techniques from dramatic action to cinema verite. Time magazine critic Steve Kanfer has spoken enthusiastically of the film.

When asked about the title, Bill remarked with a smile, "It's self-explanatory." He then went on to explain just a little.

"The title is a variation on the word symbiotaxiplasm, which was coined by Arthur Bentley in his book, 'An Inquiry into Inquiries.' Bentley discussed the methods used by social philosophers in analyzing and conceptualizing social phenomena."

In "Symbiopsychotaxiplasm Take One," Bill has added a new dimension to the word symbiotaxiplasm. The film attempts to explore and draw theatrical excitement from the many levels of reality which operate when a group of talented people come together to make a film.

"Symbio. . . is a creature of paradox," says Greaves. "Like the rhythms of jazz, it constantly violates tempo while keeping time. There is no jazz in the film, and yet the film is jazz on a cinematic and philosophical level. To me, jazz is the only way in which the form of my film can be analogically described."

"For example: Life for the black man is in many ways a prison. And the world of music, the humdrum of tempo and predetermined notation represents the bars of the prison. Jazz for me is the only way that life, which is jazz music we call rhythm, can break thru the oppressive bars of humdrum tempo and predetermined notation."

"The film is an attempt to break through the humdrum of present conventional cinematic forms."

The seminar was operated through the Board of Missions' Women's Division.

85,000 Cars Are Recalled

The Ford Motor Company recently announced it is recalling a total of 85,000 police cars -- Fords and Montereys -- sold during the past five years.

The recall involves possible correction of a safety defect in the lower control arm. Replacements will be without charge, according to the company's notification to the police departments concerned.

The decision to recall the cars was made following a five-month investigation.

Deadline Is Near

Monday, November 2, is the deadline date for filing a contribution return and report of disability insurance wages, form DE 7003, for the third quarter of 1970, R.B. Applegate, Auditor in Charge for the State Department of Human Resources Development in Monterey, has reminded employers of agricultural employees and nonprofit or district hospital employees.

Penalty and interest will be charged if the report is filed after the deadline, Applegate said.

Lilywhite Suburbs May Be Denied Funds

A proposal is being readied by the United States Civil Rights Commission which will have the effect of withdrawing federal funds -- both direct and indirect -- from such suburbs as remain lilywhite yet are adjacent to cities with heavy concentrations of minority members.

The commission's chairman, the Reverend Theodore M. Hesburgh, is expected to make the recommendation shortly, in order to break what he calls the encirclement of black central cities by impenetrable coils of white suburbs.

The commission has already had two public hearings this year on the alleged "systematic exclusion" of blacks from such suburbs, while at the same time the preliminary census figures are showing suburbia to be the increasingly dominant area of the nation.

The commission can only recommend, since its powers are wholly investigatory and advisory. However, some of its five members are reported to feel that the Administration may be willing to approve of the expected suggestions, because of the fact that federal agencies are under federal mandate to enforce equality of opportunity.

Father Hesburgh, who has been on the commission since its creation 13 years ago, is president of the University of Notre Dame.

Concerning the suburban situation, he said in Baltimore last week:

"If this country really believes in the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights, it ought to spend its federal dollars in a way that benefits all the people. If a state or a locality is not willing to do that, then we ought to say, 'O.K., if you don't want to be part of the federal system we won't help you.' It's as simple as that. And we are not doing it. We are spending millions and millions of federal dollars on things to which people do not have equal access."

Last month, a special advisory panel appointed by President Nixon recommended that federal aid "of all sorts" should be withheld from jurisdictions which block construction of low-income housing, in order "to break the suburban barrier around the central cities." The panel was headed by Washington economist Miles L. Coleman.

There have been isolated cases in which individual federal agencies have held up approval of federal aid proposals or the disbursement of funds to suburban jurisdictions because the communities have not shown sufficient initiative in ending their exclusion of minorities.

Aid Korea

Floods in Korea have swept away 29,000 homes, according to word received at Seventh Day Adventist headquarters.

Seventh Day Adventist Welfare Services, Inc. has responded with a shipment of 175,000 pounds of winter clothing. The church is strongly involved in Korea and Nigeria. Korean aid brings to 243,750 pounds the amount of relief clothing heading for overseas areas.
